

Waqas Khan

Engineer Waqas Khan is a Silicon Valley veteran of 36 years and a recognized name in Silicon Valley. Mr. Khan has worked for and led various Corporate enterprises and founded a number of startups with a few successful exits in the areas of Hardware, Software, and Digital Media.

Mr. Khan's multiple US-based start-ups have included offshore technology development in Pakistan where young aspiring technologists have been hired, trained, given experience and growth, and enabled to start their own ventures over time. To date, there have been 65 new technology companies created by technologists that started with Mr. Khan's companies. Mr. Khan holds A BS in Electrical Engineering from The University of Engineering and Technology, Lahore, and an MS in Electrical and Computer Engineering from The University of Texas at Austin.

Mr. Khan is Currently AGM with Tower Semiconductor helping enable multi-billion dollar revenue-creating state-of-the-art semiconductor technologies used by some of the leading technology companies of the World. Of his community endeavors, Mr. Khan has been a Charter member of OPEN, Commissioner of Northern California Squash, and Member of the Board of Directors of Little League Baseball amongst others.

